

GEORGEANN DINGUS

AUTHOR OF
From Ashes to God
Finding Hope
After Heartache

GEORGEANN DINGUS

AUTHOR • MEMOIRIST • STORYTELLER • SPEAKER

Faith • Family • Grief • Hope • Appalachian Memory

GeorgeAnn Dingus is a Tennessee writer, memoirist, and storyteller whose work explores faith, family, grief, grace, and Appalachian memory. Her memoir, From Ashes to God: Finding Hope After Heartache, tells a mother's story of profound loss, remembrance, and hope after the death of her son, Ryan.

GeorgeAnn also prepared Ryan Garrett Dingus's posthumous book, Hard Hitting Stories From A Hard Hit People: History, Folklore, and Heritage from the Appalachian Mountains, preserving his work on Appalachian family history, folklore, heritage, and overlooked lives.

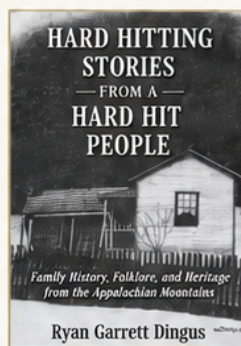

Through writing and speaking, GeorgeAnn invites audiences to consider how faith can sustain us through loss, how family stories shape us, and why preserving the voices of those who came before us matters.

BOOKS

FROM ASHES TO GOD Finding Hope After Heartache

A mother's story of loss, remembrance, and hope rising from the ashes.

HARD HITTING STORIES From a Hard-Hit People

Ryan Garrett Dingus's Appalachian family history, folklore, heritage, and preservation work.

AVAILABLE FOR INTERVIEWS, EVENTS, AND SELECT SPEAKING ENGAGEMENTS

SIGNATURE TOPICS

- Appalachian Memory & Storytelling
- Preserving Family Stories
- Finding Hope After Heartache
- Faith When Life Changes
- Grief, Remembrance & Continuing Bonds

IDEAL FOR

- Podcasts and author interviews
- Book clubs and writers' groups
- Genealogy and family history organizations
- Libraries, museums and community programs
- Churches & women's groups

STORIES MATTER.
PEOPLE ENDURE.
HOPE REMAINS.

georgeanndingus.com • GeorgeAnn's Grace & Gratitude
Email: gdingus@me.com • Substack: GeorgeAnn's Grace & Gratitude

